

AI artificial intelligence server company

Article Overview

Leading AI server companies include Supermicro, Dell, Hewlett Packard Enterprise, Lenovo, Huawei, IBM, Lambda Labs, Cerebras Systems, and TensorWave.

Major Enterprise AI Server Vendors

- Supermicro: Based in San Jose, California, Supermicro is recognized for agile AI servers with modular designs and advanced liquid cooling solutions, supporting both small-scale enterprise systems and large-scale data centers .
- Dell Technologies: Offers AI-optimized servers like the PowerEdge series, integrated with NVIDIA GPUs and Red Hat Enterprise Linux AI for seamless AI model deployment .
- Hewlett Packard Enterprise (HPE): Provides high-performance AI servers, including the ProLiant DL145 Gen11, optimized for edge and AI/ML workloads .
- Lenovo: A global player offering AI-ready servers and infrastructure solutions for enterprise AI applications .
- Huawei Technologies: Supplies AI servers and accelerators for large-scale AI deployments, particularly in Asia .
- IBM: Offers AI server solutions integrated with enterprise software and cloud services for AI workloads .

Specialized AI Server Companies

- Lambda Labs: Designs custom AI servers and workstations optimized for deep learning and high-performance computing .
- Cerebras Systems: Known for its wafer-scale AI accelerators and servers tailored f...
