

Fiber Optic Connector Price Inquiry

Article Overview

Fiber optic connector prices typically range from $1 to $20 per connector, depending on type, fiber count, and pre-termination.

Typical Price Ranges

- Standard connectors (SC, LC, ST, FC): $1 to $5 per connector for single-mode or multimode types purchased individually or in small quantities .
- Pre-terminated patch cords or assemblies: $5 to $20 per connector, depending on fiber count, length, and factory termination quality .
- High-density or multi-fiber connectors (MPO/MTP): $10 to $20 per connector, often used in data centers or backbone networks .
- Bulk or wholesale purchases: Prices can drop 20-40% when buying in large quantities directly from manufacturers or authorized distributors .

Factors Affecting Connector Costs

- Connector Type: SC, LC, ST, FC, MU, E2000, MPO/MTP, and others vary in complexity and demand, influencing price .
- Fiber Mode: Single-mode connectors generally cost slightly more than multimode due to tighter tolerances and higher performance requirements .
- Polishing Style: PC (Physical Contact), UPC (Ultra Physical Contact), and APC (Angled Physical Contact) affect insertion loss and return loss, with APC connectors typically costing more .
- Pre-Termination vs Field Termination: Factory-terminated connectors and patch cords are more expensive than field-installable connectors due to labor and quality control
