

Industrial wiring and distribution box prices

Article Overview

Wiring an industrial distribution box typically costs between $6 and $12 per linear foot for standard wiring, with total installation ranging from $200 to $1,000 or more depending on complexity and box type.

Cost Breakdown

Labor Costs: Industrial electricians generally charge $85 to $150 per hour for fully burdened labor, depending on experience and location . For complex industrial wiring, a master electrician may be required, which can increase hourly rates to $100-$150 per hour . Materials: The cost of the distribution box itself varies widely. Plastic indoor boxes are inexpensive ($10-$60), while metal or weatherproof industrial boxes can range from $100 to $450 or more, especially for NEMA 4X or IP66/IP67 rated enclosures . Additional materials include wiring, connectors, and protective devices, which may add 30-50% markup on material costs . Wiring Costs: Standard industrial wiring is typically priced at $6-$8 per linear foot, while structured or low-voltage wiring may add $2 per foot or more . For a medium-sized industrial panel, wiring 50-100 linear feet could cost $300-$1,000, depending on complexity and accessibility. Additional Factors:

- Box Size and Complexity: Larger boxes with more circuits increase labor and material costs.
- Accessibility: Hard-to-reach locations or retrofitting existing panels can increase labor hours....
