

Lixia Ladder-type Cable Tray Price

Article Overview

Lixia ladder-type cable trays typically range from $30 to $150 per 2.4-meter section, depending on material and specifications.

Price Overview

Ladder-type cable trays, including those from Lixia, are priced based on material, length, and load capacity. Standard lengths are usually 2.4 meters, and prices vary according to the metal used:

- Hot-dip galvanized steel: Commonly used for corrosion resistance in industrial and outdoor environments, priced around $30-$70 per 2.4-meter section .
- Stainless steel: Offers superior corrosion resistance and durability, suitable for harsh or hygienic environments, typically costing $80-$150 per 2.4-meter section .
- Aluminum: Lightweight and corrosion-resistant, often used for indoor installations, generally priced $50-$100 per 2.4-meter section .

Additional Considerations

- Fittings and accessories (elbows, tees, reducers, and connectors) are priced per piece, and costs vary depending on complexity and material .
- Load capacity and tray width can affect pricing; wider or heavy-duty trays designed for high-capacity cables are more expensive.
- Customization such as covers, mesh, or non-conductive coatings may increase the cost, especially for specialized industrial or food-processing applications
