

Where to find electrical distribution boxes in Eastern Europe

Article Overview

Reliable electrical distribution boxes in Eastern Europe include solutions from Delvalle, E-abel, IDE Electric, and Wieland, offering high-quality, customizable, and standards-compliant enclosures for industrial and commercial applications.

Recommended Manufacturers and Solutions

1. Delvalle Box Delvalle specializes in high-resistance electrical enclosures for demanding industrial environments. Their products are customizable, engineered to meet specific project requirements, and built for durability, safety, and reliable performance. They offer consulting and engineering support throughout the project lifecycle, ensuring compliance with local regulations and functional needs. Delvalle enclosures are suitable for hazardous areas and can be made from stainless steel grades AISI 316L or 304L for extreme conditions . 2. E-abel E-abel provides European standard distribution enclosures designed for modular breaker installation, clean internal layouts, and protection against dust and moisture. Their enclosures comply with IEC 61439 and IP protection standards, making them suitable for both indoor and exposed service areas. E-abel emphasizes practical installation, maintenance ease, and project-based customization, ensuring long-term reliability and efficiency . 3. IDE Electric IDE Electric offers a wide range of metal and polyester cabinets for industrial and automation applications. Their enclosures are certified for domestic and international markets, with IP44-IP67 protection and amperage ranges from 10 to 125 A. IDE Electric supports customized solutions, rapid production, and flexible assembly options, making them ideal for projects requiring quick deployment and t...
